

Why Question the Style and Functionality of a Web Page?

A web page and/or site reveal a great deal through their style and functionality. Easy navigation of a site demonstrates that the information is clearly organised and consequently easier to use and understand.

If all the links on a webpage or website work there is a higher probability the page/site is well maintained. Moreover, key elements of information may be lost if the necessary links are broken.

The language of the page may assist in revealing the author's credentials or trustworthiness. Poorly communicated information also limits the usefulness and appropriateness of the page/site.

Return to The Art Institute of Vancouver Criteria for Evaluating Internet Resources